

Dear FCC, Cell phone number portability is critical for competitions. Many people only know to contact me at that number and likely will for many years, making it very painful to change companies without portability.